MEDFIELD, MA – September, 2008 – Medfield.TV and Lowell Telecommunication Corporation announce the fourth annual 'Call for Entries' for the 100 Second Film Festival. This festival is a short format, non commercial moving image festival open to all. An all new installment of festival will premiere on the big screen this winter and throughout 2009.

The first deadline for entries is November 15.

The 100 Second Film Festival is an unique yet accessible universal collaboration. Launched in 2005, this evolving anthology of videos embraces the raw creativity from producers of all skill levels and backgrounds, encouraging them to submit their best work. Works from all genres are welcome adhering to the common constraint of 100 seconds or less in duration.

Visit the 100seconds.org to watch many of the videos from 2005-2007, follow a video blog tracking 2008 and download additional press materials.

Powering this endeavor is a Creative Commons license, providing a flexible, open ended opportunity for remixing and future festival growth.

Submitting an entry is free. Entries can be submitted online or through the mail. Complete rules are on the website.
